Holy Bible

The date was Sunday, May 25, 1969. During the morning of that day, I stood before the congregation of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Temple, Texas and confirmed the faith I had received in my Baptism on July 1, 1956. It was also on that date that I received a book from my aunt and uncle that I still have in my possession. It had a black cover with a zipper around the outer edge. On the front of the book in gold lettering were these words, "Holy Bible."

Since that date in 1969, I have been on a journey of faith that would lead me into greater understanding of just how holy that book really is. As I have read The Holy Bible over the years I have gained increasing knowledge about God and His relationship with His people. I have gained understanding of God's promises, His mercy and His grace. Yet, honestly, I still feel like I have only scratched the surface of the depth and the wisdom and the knowledge of God.

What makes this book so special and holy? It has to do with its content. As the Apostle Paul wrote to Timothy, "All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16-17, ESV). The Apostle Peter also teaches us that, "no prophecy was ever produced by the will of man, but men spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit" (1 Peter 1:21, ESV).

The book is special because it is God's inspired, inerrant and holy word given to us to reveal His holy will for our lives, to make known the gift of our salvation, to increase the knowledge of our faith and to proclaim the gospel to those around us. It is a special gift given from God that is one of the most widely distributed gifts of God to the world. While, at the same time, it is quite often one of the most underused gifts in the world.

This is hard to understand. In some parts of the world, people will literally die trying to get their hands on a copy of this holy word. While in others, multiple copies often just sit on a shelf never to be read. Meanwhile, the psalmist writes the following about the words of God: "More to be desired are they than gold, even much fine gold; sweeter also than honey and drippings of the honeycomb" (Psalm 19:10, ESV). And again, "Blessed is the man who walks not in the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of scoffers; but his delight is in the law of the LORD, and on his law he meditates day and night" (Psalm 1:1-2, ESV). God's word is a treasure to be read and cherished by His people.

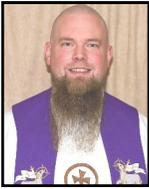

Another group of young people confirm their faith through the Rite of Confirmation in our congregation this year, each having only scratched the surface of the knowledge of the Christian faith. My prayer is that they, and we, would use this time to again confirm the faith of our Baptism, which we know only because of the Holy Bible. Then, through that God-given faith, we will gain a renewed zeal and desire to want to know more about our God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, growing in the knowledge of our faith by reading His Holy Word, The Holy Bible, and being made "complete, equipped for every good work."

Love God and love your neighbor,

A Message From Our Associate Pastor

Rev. Matthew Hardaway

Email: pastorhardaway@splcwaco.com

Jesus in the Psalms - Psalm 1 (ESV)

<sup>1</sup> Blessed is the man who walks not in the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of scoffers; <sup>2</sup>but his delight is in the law of the Lord, and on his law he meditates day and night. <sup>3</sup>He is like a tree planted by streams of water that yields its fruit in its season, and its leaf does not wither. In all that he does, he prospers. <sup>4</sup>The wicked are not so, but are like chaff that the wind drives away. <sup>5</sup>Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous; <sup>6</sup>for the Lord knows the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked will perish.

There have been quite a few meme's (the internet's version of a bumper sticker) quoting the phrase "Too Blessed To Be Stressed." I don't know about you, but for me I cannot think of a time when I have not had some reason to be stressed. As a child I was stressed when I did not get my way or did not understand what was going on in the world around me. As an adult I still get stressed when I do not get my way, and I still do not always understand what is going on in the world around me.

The week after Easter I began to experience stress after a few hours of walking, specifically in my left foot. After a few weeks I was able to narrow it down to only happening when I wore my boots. I began to have a added stress at the thought of 6 month old boots failing me, and the cost associated with purchasing them, and potentially needing to replace them. Needless to say, even with all the wonderful blessings in my life, the stress was rather constant.

This is but one small example of what life is like for each of us I suppose. We can identify the many blessings God provides for us everyday, but there will always be some sort of stress in our lives. If we cannot identify it, all we need is to walk in the counsel of the Lord and delight in His law and meditate on it day and night. Pretty soon the Holy Spirit will convict us of our sin and lead us to confession, after-which we get to experience the fruit of Christ's labors on the cross, the forgiveness of our sin.

Sometimes it is not an actual sin that is causing stress, rather it is the effect of sin on the entire world that we are enduring. Nevertheless, the counsel is still the same. As Paul wrote in Colossians 2:7, "Let your roots grow down into him, and let your lives be built on him. Then your faith will grow strong in the truth you were taught, and you will overflow with thankfulness" (NLT). Read the Word, meditate on it, examine yourself in light of it's truth, and even in the midst of stress you will prosper.

I don't know what made me think of this, but I took a moment a week ago to examine my boots. I discovered a sock, stuffed deep into the toe of the boot. With my socks on there was no way to notice it. With the sock in the boot my boot was too small and cramping my toes. How did that sock get down in there? It was because of one of the many blessings in my life - our daughters, who used the eggs from their Easter egg hunt to create an Easter egg hunt for mom and dad. As they stuffed eggs into my boot, they forced the sock into its hiding place. Turning the boot over dumped out the eggs, but not the sock.

There is still stress in my life, but I can still be thankful for my many blessings, both my daughters, my boots, and most especially that I am found righteous because of Jesus' love for me.

With Christ's Love,
Pastor Matthew Hardaway

A Message From Our Pastor Emeritus

Rev. Walter F. Albers

Email: pastoralbers@splcwaco.com

I was reading an article recently about a pastor and how he shared so much of life with the mothers in his church ... and I could really relate to that. We visit them in the hospital and rejoice with them for the precious little baby they have just received as a gift from God. We counsel them when the time comes for that child get married, and how they should be filled with hope for the future. We stand by the bedside when a child is ill and you feel their pain. And you hurt with them... yes, even cry with them, when their child goes astray... or is taken through death.

As we approach Mother's Day, we think of Mary, the mother of Jesus, and how she too went through much of the same cycle. What joy she must have felt when the Christ child was born. And who of us could ever know the excitement she felt when the shepherds came and told her their story and bowed down to worship Him. Or the awe she must have felt when the wise men came from the East with their gifts and the story of their guiding star... and they also bowed down to worship Him. Or the questions she must have asked herself after Simeon told her, "a sword would pierce her soul" (Luke 3:35) because of Him. And how her heart must have ben heavy when Jesus left home to begin His ministry. And what feelings must have torn at her heart as she stood and watched her Son die on the cross.... Knowing He was innocent of all charges... and unable to do anything to help.

But, thanks to God, her story does not end there. She saw Jesus alive after the resurrection and she would forevermore know and believe Him to be what He claimed... the Son of God... the long-awaited Messiah... her personal Lord and Savior. And, because of Jesus, her Son, today is in heaven with Him.

Mothers are very special people... more special when they, like Mary, believe Jesus to be what He claimed... the Son of the living God... the promised Messiah... their personal Lord and Savior! For then, they see their children as a gift of God... a little life to be molded and shaped under the cross for eternity... they spend the time necessary to train them up in the way of the Lord... they encourage them in their Christian life... they pray for them... hurt with them... and rejoice with them in their victories over sin, death, and the devil... and they look forward to spending eternity with them as together they forever worship their gracious Lord.

Christian mothers are a blessing... a true gift of God to the home... the family... the church... and the community. One of the greatest callings and highest honors a woman can know, is to be a faithful Christian wife and mother. We should faithfully encourage them... help them in every way to be the gift God has called them to be... and above all, thank God for them... not just on Mother's Day, but every day of the year!

“Healthier Eating Habits” For a Healthier You

Last month my focus was on “Weight Assessment,” so this month it is on balancing calories, healthy food choices, and physical activity which are key elements to weight loss and weight control. Regular physical activity can reduce health problems and keep your body healthy and strong.

What is healthy eating? According to the Centers for Disease Control Dietary Guidelines for Americans 2015-2020, a healthy eating plan emphasizes fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and fat-free or low-fat milk and milk products; includes lean meats, poultry, fish, bean, eggs, and nuts; is low in saturated fats, trans fats, cholesterol, salt (sodium), added sugars and stays within your daily caloric needs. Attitude plays a big part in managing one’s weight. Focusing on all the foods you can eat, rather than on the ones you shouldn’t is a good way to stay on plan. Fruits: fresh, frozen, or canned are great choices, try exotic fruits too! Be careful though, some canned fruits contain added sugars or syrups. For a healthier option, choose fruits packed in their own juice. Fresh, frozen, or canned vegetables are good choices. They can be prepared in many different ways, grilled, sautéed, or steamed. Look for veggies without added salt, butter or cream sauces. Calcium-rich foods such as milk and milk products are also good choices, but also try low-fat and fat-free yogurts without added sugars. Instead of coating meats or fish in breading, try baking or grilling them.

What about favorite comfort foods? Healthy eating is all about balance. The key is only having foods high in fat or sugar once in a while, and balancing them out with healthier foods and more physical activity. (Tips: eat them less often, eat smaller amounts, or try a lower-calorie version.)

Permanently improving your eating habits requires a thoughtful approach in which you reflect, replace, and reinforce. Reflect on all your specific eating habits, both bad and good; and your common triggers for unhealthy eating. Replace your unhealthy eating habits with healthier ones. Reinforce your new, healthier eating habits. Keep a food diary for a few days, write down everything you eat and the time you ate it. This helps you uncover your habits. Highlight the habits which lead to overeating. Common habits are: eating too fast, always cleaning your plate, eating when not hungry, eating standing up, always eating dessert, and skipping meals. While looking at and working on the unhealthy habits, be sure to pat yourself on the back for the good ones you accomplish. Common triggers can cause you to eat when not hungry: opening up a cupboard and seeing a favorite snack item, sitting at home watching TV, before or after a stressful situation, coming home after work and having no idea what’s for dinner, getting offered a dish made “just for you,” seeing a candy dish on a counter, seeing a vending machine next to where you are sitting, seeing a plate of doughnuts at a meeting, swinging through your favorite drive-through every morning, or feeling bored or tired and thinking of a picker-upper. Recognize what your triggers are and then ask yourself if there is anything I can do to avoid the cue or situation? For unavoidable things, is there something I can do differently and healthier? Finally, replace unhealthy habits with new healthy ones. Some ideas to help replace unhealthy habits: eat more slowly, eat only when you’re truly hungry. Do not eat when you are bored, tired, anxious, stressed. You will want to distract yourself with another activity. Plan meals ahead of time.

Healthy eating habits do not happen overnight! They take time. Planning your meals is a good place to start improving your food choices. If you are computer savvy, you might want to use a tracking program like Super Tracker My Plan (www.supertracker.usda.gov/myplan.aspx). If you are not friendly with the computer, you can start by choosing from the food groups listed above. Think lower-calorie ingredients. Use sharply flavored cheeses that are low-fat, use cooking spray instead of oil, use skinless meats, and always drain away all excess fats. You can cut calories in your favorite foods by lowering the amount of fat and or increasing the amount of fiber-rich ingredients, such as vegetables or fruit. You can add dry beans and or rice to extend soups and chili and improve its nutritional value. Do not restrict yourself completely from your favorite dishes, you can have them occasionally and always in MODERATION!

Next month I will get more into calories and how to use fruits and vegetables to help manage your weight. Take the time to discover your eating habits, what your triggers (cues) are, and what your emotions are when you are eating. Improving your habits will only benefit you for the rest of your life. Remember, God gave us this body as a temple for the Holy Spirit to reside in. We want to present a healthy temple back to God for his purposes for us and through us.

Blessings Always, Dcs Suzanne Krahn

Have you heard? The LWML Texas District will be holding its 40th convention right in our own backyard! Our own St. Paul LWML society is part of the Host Committee putting on this convention. There will be volunteer opportunities for both men and women to assist us as we welcome the hundreds of women bound for Waco. More details about those opportunities will follow as we get closer to the event. Be sure and save the dates, July 5-8!

In addition to volunteering, you won't want to miss this opportunity to connect with mission and ministry on the beautiful Brazos River! The Waco Convention Center has been spruced up with beautiful new spaces. It's a great time to gather with others and make new friends and reconnect with those you haven't seen in a while. You know how it is, one big Lutheran reunion!

Texas District LCMS President Ken Hennings will serve as the Proclaimer for the opening worship service on Friday evening July 6, at 7:30pm. St. Paul is serving as the host congregation for this worship service. This service is open to the public and does not require registering for the convention. Let's all plan on showing our support by attending this service.

Author Donna Pyle will present a brand new Bible study she prepared just for this convention. Wendysue Fluegge (song leader at the national convention) will be the song leader and will also entertain us with a program on Saturday evening.

And there is more than just singing, Bible study, and servant events! Come early on July 5, to visit with ministry exhibits and bring your Gifts from the Heart to be distributed to agencies in the Waco area. Be sure to check out the four pages of details regarding the convention in the March issue of The Lutheran Witness on the district pages 17-20, or visit our website at www.lwmltxdist.org/2018-waco-convention.html
